TECHNOLOGIES

TECHNOLOGY - MATERIALS - CONSTRUCTION

Passive System - Passive randing is constructed and tensioned for situations where the primary focus is not dynamic support, but instead – comfort. New climbers developing footwork, professional guides leading all day trips, and long multi-pitch climbing are all examples of where comfort is equally as important and beneficial as performance is.

Stretch Knit– A proprietary technology from SCARPA, this one-piece stretch knit upper utilizes strategically placed varying thickness of material which controls stretch, provides extreme breathability, and is also washable.

Vision Rubber - SCARPA's Vision rubber, a proprietary compound that is both sticky and resilient to all the conditions that new climbers will experience.

Fit - Men's: FFX Last – medium width, low angle toe box with medium volume heel
Women's: FFXW Last – medium width, low angle toe box with medium volume heel
